

Article on Schedule VI was Nice

The article titled 'Why Has Schedule VI Outlived Its Utility' authored by Mr. Dolphy D'souza (Jan 2006 page 993) was a nice reading. It might seem to be a difficult decision for the legislators to scrap Schedule VI but the fact that of late the legislators have expressed their confidence in ICAI on various occasions and that ICAI has proved its mettle since its inception certainly gives hope that a decision to empower ICAI to issue a standard in lieu of Schedule VI can be very practical if pursued by ICAI.

Journal is Now More Informative

Though I am not a Chartered Accountant (only a neurosurgeon!!) I enjoy reading your journal. The quality of the publication and the contents are excellent. It is very informative. Keep up the excellent work.

Journal is Striving to Its Reputation

The November issue was very informative and full of opportunities. However, the binding of the copies of the journal as received in the eastern Uttar Pradesh was not done properly which led to loosening of a few pages. I wish this aspect of the Journal is also taken care of.

We are Better But Still Not Best

We all agree that there has been a perceptible change in the quality of the journal. Letters to the Editor are a reflection of the same. But it is high time we take it as the minimum standard and should strive for more improvement and betterment. More crisp and timely articles, which are useful in the practice of profession, should be encouraged. Theoretical articles running into a number of pages should be avoided. Other features like Quiz on Information Technology etc. shall go a long way in making the journal more interesting and informative.

'Our ID Cards Should be Recognised"

I am an associate member of ICAI. It is quite surprising that although recognised by Parliament, our identity cards as issued by ICAI are still not considered as valid in many places like opening a bank account or providing the proof for any documentation. I think our proud Institute must take some steps to make the Identity Cards issued to us accepted at any place for any legal work.

Global Recognition of ACA Qualification from ICAI

At the very outset I would like to share my happiness of being a member of the ICAI.

But looking at the growth of world economy, especially India, we should push the developed countries also to recognise our qualifications, which is a blend of Practical Training and Professional Education. In fact a good number of the ICAI members are working outside India and their worth is truly recognised and appreciated in the countries where they are serving. We, the CAs hope that the Institute will certainly do something to make our qualification globally recognised.
