

Letters To The Editor

Thank You ICAI, but we want more

I thank ICAI for publishing a range of informative articles and appreciate the continuing improvement in their quality. But a lot more areas are still to be focused upon. I passed CA Final Examination in July 2003 and started my own practice in January 2004. I have benefited a lot from the article titled 'E-Accounting Brings Global Opportunities' in July 2004 issue of the journal.

But I request the Institute to guide the members, especially the new ones, on how to tap huge opportunities in the BPO sector, which is constantly getting bigger and bigger.

Guidance on proper way to approach the firms (overseas/India) would be of immense help to the newly qualified members.

Focus on semi-qualified CAs also

I have been an avid reader of the ICAI journal over the years and I am happy to see the journal undergoing a gradual facelift – both in terms of quality of the content and overall presentation.

However, one thing that is missing in the journal is a section exclusively focusing on Chartered Accountancy students or at least 'semi-qualified' Chartered Accountants, who for some or the other reasons, have not been able to clear the final examination and need special guidance regarding the options available to them for career growth.

Publish more circulars

The layout and the way of presentation of articles in our journal are very impressive at present. I congratulate all those responsible for the same.

I would also like to make a request that all the notifications/circulars of Income Tax, Service Tax, Companies Act and other allied acts should be published in our journal instead of only the important ones. If it is not possible in the journal, the Regional Councils should take care of that in their respective newsletters.

Breath of fresh air!

We CAs traditionally give more weightage to content than form. But the importance of presentation cannot be ignored. I am glad that the Editorial Board has given attention to this aspect and we have a new-look journal, which is like a breath of fresh air. Having said that, I would request that more practical articles pertaining to day-to-day issues of professionals and technology should be given precedence over mundane theoretical articles. This would immensely benefit the members and increase the readership manifold.

Further, please refer page of my article "Digital Signature gets popular" in the October 04 issue. In the figure illustrating the process of Use of Digital Signature, the step "Pay fee to CA for Digital Certificate" may be ignored. This step is only for obtaining Digital Signature.

Corrigendum

This is for the information of readers that the article titled "E-filing: Hi-tech yet easy", published in our September issue was also co-authored by N Chandrasekaran, President & CEO of ESIX Technologies, and R Sumanthra, also.
