

September Issue a Treasure Trove

> The September 2011 issue has proved to be a treasure for the tech savvy professionals. The deep insight into a relatively naive technology for the Chartered Accountants, 'Cloud Computing,' by CA. A. Rafeeq is an impeccable effort. Making the netizens aware of the risk and threats involved in using IT and also explaining the security measures to combat the issue by Dr. Debashis Kundu has made this issue of journal accomplish its objective.

-CA. Priyesh Jain, Jaipur

> I congratulate and appreciate our honourable Institute for continuously improving the content and quality of our CA Journal, which is undoubtedly one of the finest publications. September issue was one of the best in recent times, highlighting various important issues and matters. I also want to thank the team of this journal for putting up the most important things in concise and understandable manner. Also it is very useful for those who have selected their career either in auditing or taxation because it helps the readers in updating the knowledge in different aspects which becomes very difficult in practical life.

-Jatin Prashnani

> The September 2011 issue of the journal was very nicely packed with informative and knowledge enhancing content, particularly the Information Technology aspect. The Editorial titled 'Information Technology and Chartered Accountants' made a very good and informative reading. The column 'From the President' was equally informative which updated us with the latest developments pertaining to our profession in India and the ICAI. Among the other contents, the section on Information Technology really stood out and considerably added to our knowledge. 'Know Your Ethics' and 'EAC Opinion' are two other regular columns which were worth preserving by Indian accounting professionals for all times to come. I congratulate the related team for bringing out the September 2011 issue of the journal.

'Member's Identity Card' Should be Widely Accepted'

> The identity cards issued by ICAI should be widely accepted and recognised. Why it is that CAs are amongst the most respected professionals, still their I-cards are of no use where we need to submit the documents. Neither it is recognised in banks for opening a bank account nor when they ask for a copy of ID Proof. I appeal to the ICAI to take steps in this direction, so that we can use our I-cards as first source of any identification proof.

'Journal Highlights' through email a Useful Initiative

> We are very happy to get the journal highlights in email, which is very user friendly. We look forward that this practice continues for all times to come.

-CA. I.V.Surendra Kumar, Ongole

> The journal highlights being sent to us by email is an excellent initiative. Congratulations!

-Akbar Mohamed Casim Shaikh, Qatar

> Its a very appropriate & timely decision of sending highlights of the Journal with details accessible at single click. Reference becoming easy with high level of comfort. Congrats for a new service to the CA community!

-CA.Vivek Mathkari. Pune

> Congratulations to the team that has worked on this useful improvement to the user interface of the ICAI journal. The ease of access and reading makes it a completely joyful experience leave alone the cost it saves in terms of paper and air/sea mailing.

-CA. Venkat Ramamurthy, Vice Chairman - ICAI Doha Chapter

> I am a member since 1986 and consider the Journal Highlights as best improvement. Hope these links are permanent.

-Rajan Srinivasan

> Please accept my congratulations for this initiative of sending the Journal Highlights through email. Many a time we used to miss reading the journal for it was not readily accessible at all times. But getting this in email, you certainly cannot miss it.

-CA Rakesh Khanna

> Thanks a lot for arranging the delivery of Journal Highlights through email. This format is very helpful particularly for members like me who are far away from home.

-CA. Sai Akkanapragada Saiprasad, New York

> I highly appreciate the initiative of sending the PDF file with highlights of the journal to members.

-CA. Ganesh S Deshpande, Thane

Corrigendum

In the Executive Summary of the article titled "Assurance on Corporate Sustainability Reports" published on page nos. 88-93 in August 2011 issue, the IFAC definition of Assurance was wrongly published as definition of Sustainability Reporting. The error is regretted.
